Why We Exist

Church software is increasingly owned by private equity firms whose goal is profit, not ministry—siphoning millions from congregations and entangling them in contracts that compromise their values. At ChurchApps.org, we believe the Church should never be dependent on systems that drain its resources or undermine its mission. We create free, open-source software so every congregation—regardless of size or budget—can access world-class tools without hidden fees or outside agendas. We exist to set the Church free.

Partner with Us

By empowering churches with transparent, community-owned technology, we are helping them steward their finances wisely, protect their independence, and focus every dollar and every effort on what truly matters: making disciples and transforming lives. If your church decides to use ChurchApps please help us further this mission by giving back so other churches can benefit in the same way.
